

Do you write under a pseudonym? Why or Why not?

I do not use a pseudonym because I want to see my name up in lights.

What is the name of your latest book, and what's it about?

BEHOLDEN – a suspenseful mystery taking place in a small town, Galena Illinois. The community is in an uproar due to the seemingly random disappearances of the townspeople. Families are left with the terror of the unknown and the hope of a safe return. The answer to the mystery is closer than they would like to believe.

What genre/s does your latest book fall under?

Mystery/Thriller

What website and/or social networks can people use to keep up with you?

If you could say anything to your current and future readers, what would it be?

I want to say, "Thank you." I appreciate the belief that you have in me by purchasing and reading my books. It is my hope that you are enriched, encouraged and motivated after reading my work. Stay tuned, there is more to come.

Where can readers buy your books?

Are you a trained writer (degreed) or a natural?

I am a natural.

Do any of the characters in your book reflect your characteristics?

If I had to choose a character, it would be Mitrice Reynolds. She is down to earth and does not allow what others think determine her outlook or her perception of self.

Who is your target audience for your latest book?

My target audience is ANYONE who is looking for an exciting read that will cause them to look at themselves and the intentions behind the things they do and say; a mature reader who isn't afraid of the truth.

What if anything is your worst quality as a writer?

My worst quality is picking a time to write and sticking to it. I, also, tend to get overly involved in the book and confuse my tense while writing.

What's been your inspiration/motivation to write this book?

It is my hope that people are in tune with their intentions and how they can affect their lives, even when they do not believe they do. This book will have the reader checking and rechecking their thought processes as it pertains to their actions, as well as their words.

If you could choose any celebrity to promote your book OTHER THAN OPRAH, who would it be?

Bishop T.D. Jakes – He intentionally pushes projects that have meaning and depth, without being staunch and hard-nosed. He doesn't have tunnel vision when it comes to what he promotes. It doesn't have to be religious (in the way people see religion, these days).

What is the best reviewer comment or compliment you've received about this book to date?

"My opinion is, it was a good read, interesting storyline. The message you were sending came across loud and clear. Not overly deep, in religion, or the characters; which I find some authors tend to over exaggerate the characters. As I had no idea what the book, it took me by surprise...lol

I do not normally read about religion or religious views.

Thumbs up !!!!"

What has been your most exciting moment as an author?

My most exciting moment has to be when I finished writing BEHOLDEN. I knew the book was one of my best works. I am very proud of this book.
